“ My condolences to the Roman/Lozano families. To me I met her 16 years ago we lived across from each other. At 72 I made her a grandmother again and then at 74 she welcomed them with the love only she knew as Blessings. She was mi viejita as few may know. She kept and held everything together. La viejita was a listener always in the kitchen with coffee ready, Had so much patience, never saw her upset, all she had was love. On our talks she always said nena read 1 de Corintios 13 and when I seem lost said "ay nena si solo tuvieras Fe como un grano de mostaza". ALL she had for each of us was love, each relationship with children, brothers, grandkids was unique but love was the same. Teaching us to forgive, wanting families to love one another NO matter our differences. She left a legacy, that none of us will ever fill, she lives and will live in each one of those lives she met, talked and mostly loved. Your biggest worry of the few was the girls, that was accomplished, you went beyond you saw her get married. your last worry was that you will not see us in heaven always said if you want to see me again you know what you have to do. I can go on forever, You are Home, mi viejita and from the outside I promise we will stand strong!. Love you Your daughter Emy. We love you wela Sue and Emieleeann Roman.
