“ Phyllis - Sorry about your mother's death. We were with them many summer days at Four Seasons Golf Course. We often commented on how well-dressed and color-coordinated your father looked. He would reply, " my wife picked it out." We think of the many times your mother would swing easily at the ball so as not to hit it farther than Paul. She always used a pink ball. She talked often about playing Mah Jongg. She was always polite, friendly, considerate, and kind. A nice sense of humor also. We missed her when she stopped playing. We are better people from having known her. She will join Paul and both be together. With sympathy, Dick and Keiko Mumford
