I'm deeply saddened to hear about the passing of Brian. What I Remember from our time working together, is that he was not only a valued colleague but also a kind and supportive presence in the workplace. My thoughts are with his family, friends, and everyone who had the privilege of working alongside him. Brian will be greatly missed.

I second this. Brian was a mentor, friend, and just a nice guy. He will surely be missed by many.

“ I knew Brian as a customer in a hobby shop where I worked... The Crossing. He was a most egregious man with a passion for model trains. My condolences to his family and friends. I'm certain he will be missed.

By egregious, I meant the older use of the term. Gregarious might have been a better choice. But you get it.

I've known Brian since my parents visited his and he and I spent countless hours playing Monopoly together to pass the time. We sort of lost touch throughout school, but caught up again when our paths crossed as he strung cable and I delivered mail. Being the ornery devil he was, he even went to my post office and told some kind of wild story about something I was doing out on the street to get me in trouble. I didn't see him again until his mom's funeral where I also met his lovely wife and learned that her mother lives in my development. We had someone new to wave to, but haven't seen her in a while either. Vicki, I wish you and Ryan the best. Thanks for making Brian happy and complete. Treasure the good memories!
