After returning home, he worked as a cook for several restaurants in the Lancaster area, beginning at the Wiggins in 1948, where he met Lois. They worked for the famous Glass Kitchen, locally before being asked to move to Newark, Delaware to begin working at the newly built Glass Kitchen. There, Chuck and Lois became big-time boating people who started out small and then moved up to a cabin cruiser that they kept in the upper Chesapeake Bay. After decades of working and living in Delaware, Chuck and Lois returned to the Lancaster area, and Chuck began work as a gardener, another field that he loved. Chuck helped tend many properties for multiple clients. He had a reputation for hard work and dedication in whatever he did.

Chuck is survived by the love of his life, Lois, and by nephews and nieces. He was predeceased by a brother, Norman, sisters, Marie and Catherine, and a nephew, Gerald (Jerry), who was special to both Chuck and Lois.

“ Chuck was an amazing man. I remember the first time I met him over at Jean's House. He had that funny sense of humor that always made you smile.
I remember when we decided he was going to teach me how to make seafood Newburgh and shopping for the products.
He taught me how to pick fresh seafood.
I am not sure what took longer, the shopping or making the dinner. It was great memories. Chuck was a very caring person and will be deeply missed. 🥹
Fly high Chuck 🙏
