“ I read your book not suitable for failmy viewing and fell in love with it back in 2010.I was there when they announced your book had one the red maple award. I waited in line to get the book signed for my school. If i only knew that i could buy my own copy there i would of and gotten it signed by you. You probably don't remember me but i suggested to turn the book into a movie. Not suitable for failmy viewing was the first and best book i have ever read and is still my number one book. The way this book was written stunned me and after it i fell in love with reading - Anna
