“ Ellie adored her husband. She loved her sons and their wives, and she loved her grandchildren. I have memories of her myself, and I live hundreds of miles away. Once you're past this stressful time, the memories you'll hold on to will be the memories of that love, and all the happy times you've shared.

“ Dr. Kendall,

I am so sorry to read about the loss of your sweet wife. I remember teasing you about her having to be a saint to be able to put up with you :) I never really knew her other than through you but I could tell from you that she was a wonderful woman. We lost my husband's mother 914am on the 24th. These are tough times but we know these ladies are up in heaven celebrating! Bless you, Betty Yoder

“ Dr. Kendall's devotion and love for Ellie, never failed. He would have dinner with her each night at Homestead Village. Although Ellie did not respond too often, her love for her husband was always there. Love to her family, from a friend at Homestead Village
