“ As Father's Day is approaching, I know that I will miss you more than ever. It was always a fun effort to find something meaningful and fun to send you on Father's Day, but mostly it was time spent talking that mattered the most, I will miss that. Know that you will be present in my thoughts this Father's Day.

To Quintin and Audrey, Thank you. Dad never spoke much about his time in Korea, but I do know that he loved the time in Japan. It was amazing to hear of him as a young man and the friendships that lasted a life time. Thank you!

Bill, Thank you, he enjoyed your friendship and spoke of you often.

Dolly....well, you know how I feel. I could never thank you enough for all you have done. Love you.

“ I was so sorry to learn of Harold's passing. For almost twenty years, we had an annual conversation about what was going on in our lives, triggered by his thoughtful sending of a Christmas card. We formed our friendship at Armstrong, after hours, when he was working in our offices on the third floor. He was always open, candid and a truly interesting man.

Sincerely, Bill Adams

“ Serving in the military (Korea) with Harold will forever be a fond memory for me(Quintin). He and I toured in Japan when we were together going to school for chemical and biological warfare training. One of our memorable tours was to Hiroshima to view where the atomic bomb was used to help end WWII. That day the 5 or 6 G.I.s stopped at a Japanese restaurant for our dinner time meal. Where nobody could speak or understand English it took a lot of sign language and gestures to get our orders filled. We did enjoy our meal ,but really didn't know exactly what we were eating. Harold was always an upbeat buddy through it all. After we were discharged from the Army we continued to stay in touch. Audrey and I always enjoyed the Christmas cards we would get from Harold and Pat. We always knew Lancaster,Pa. was in good hands.

Our condolences to Pat and the Woerner family!

I will miss those times. And thanks for making me like witches when I was young. Every time I put them up I will remember you. And thanks for always worrying about me since Jess passed away. You will never know how much I appreciated that!! And you have a great son and daughter and great grandchildren who will see that Pat has everything she needs. She is so lucky to have them.
