“ He always wanted to make things more fun and welcoming for everyone. He was someone I could confide in and he to me. Always giving reassurance when people felt left out or maybe felt out of place. He was an amazing person to talk to, just to chop it up about work, games life the convos flowed. I'll miss our convos and our team ups bro, you were taken to soon. I know I didn't say it at the time you did, though you are truly a brother to me. My condolences to his family and friends. Love and miss you Jay

“ There can never be a good amount of words to express how much of an amazing person Jay is and always will be. 5 going on 6 years of knowing him yet it feeling like it was 15 or more. He was a brother to me, and someone I could call a best friend. He always made sure people felt comfortable & safe; & having a great time. He always knew when to make people laugh & ease a situation as well. Playing games & watching movies was always a good time, enjoying game commentary & chaotic banter. He also was a role model, my two oldest loved playing games with him as well; to where my oldest son wants to play games & one day be as good as him. He always gave words of encouragement & positivity. To say he will be missed is an understatement. He was taken too soon from all of us, and I send all my love to his family during this time. I love & will always be missing you Jay

“ I met Jay from Twitter and we gamed for many years. He was like a brother to me. In my highs and lows throughout the years he was always optimistic and he spoke life to me and many others. He was always humble and kind and willing to help any way that he could. Jay was goofy and knew how to make a person laugh! I love you brother and will miss you greatly. Sending my condolences to his family and praying that God brings comfort and peace.

“ Meeting him for the first time, he was someone I could talk to comfortably even though I didn't know him that long and never met him in person. He had a light and positivity he exuded that made it easy to talk to him about anything and everything no matter how silly. He quickly became like an older brother to me. He was an amazing person who was always willing to listen to you vent about anything and everything and cared for the people he loved deeply. I remember he would sometimes check on me just to see whether or not I ate that day. We didnt have to talk all the time but when we did it was like nothing changed. Whenever we played games together it was always filled with love and laughter with all the crazy antics he did in game. I will be awaiting those rematches for all the games we still needed to play and rewatch the shows we were supposed to finish. He was always there for me and I hope he knew I was always there for him. The five years I knew him I will never forget and I only wish we had more time. My condolences to his family and friends. He was an amazing person who positively affected all those he crossed paths with and will be missed deeply.

“ I am still in disbelief. He has such a big impact on so many people. He was the most optimistic person. He had the best mindset. He was such a thoughtful, considerate, kind, person with the biggest personality. Knew exactly what to say to make everything alright. I am sad I never had the chance to meet him officially. But I am glad I got to be in his life none the less, and beable to have the friendship i do, and was able to have the privilege of knowing him. He was so good to my sister. I have never seen such a powerful, yet soft love like they had. They were soul mates. I loved hearing him talk about being with my sister and how much he adored her. As well as his family. I am so thankful to Jay's parents for raising such a wonderful young man. He is just everything that was right with humanity. Not a hateful bone in his body. Nothing but love, compassion, loyalty, humble, strong, selfless.. Even though we were not able to meet, I still felt he is my big brother. The bond was just unreal. Never have i ever talked to him and he was nothing but in high spirits, even when he was in pain. He always wanted to make sure everyone else was taken care of and happy. He is an amazing person. The impact he has left on everyone he has came in contact with is immaculate. I love and miss you so much brother. I hope heaven is as wonderful as they say. You definitely deserves nothing but the best. Rest easy 💙
