“ Joe was a great friend to myself and several others throughout his years at Donegal. I had only known him for several years and he had made a impact on me. Joe was quiet around most even when he was with his friends, but whenever he had something to say it would stick. Joe was an extremely nice person with a strong sense of humor In which he used daily. Such as the time he had came to school in a Santa Claus outfit just to mess around but then was pulled on stage during the Christmas Assembly and you could tell he didn't want this kind of attention at all but somehow was put into this situation, they asked him why he chose to wear that to school that day he said something along the lines of "I don't know, it's Christmas?" He would always use comedy in such a way that would help pass time, I know he didn't enjoy being in school most of the time due to stressors but he was extremely close to the people he associate with. I only wished me and him grew closer after school, we became more distant and only talked here and there about possibly getting together with our friend group again. I don't know Joe like most of you did but I do know I enjoyed the time he spent with me and the impact he left on everyone was very strong indeed. He was such a generous person, caring deeply for those close to him, I regret not being closer to him than I was but am so happy for all those who attained his love and friendship becuase like me and the rest of you, his relationship with you meant something. I wish I could be there to pay my respects to the family and friends, I am so sorry for the loss, he was an amazing and caring person and I'm so happy for those who were close to him because he did care for the relationships in his life. I really regret not being more present as a friend In the past year. Much love to Joe and his family, may he rest in peace.
