“ I can still remember reading a story out of the newspaper to dad (tom) and he cracked up at the story of a man blowing up a toilet and he goes “gotta send that to Larry” but he didn’t just send it normal, he sent it certified so he’d have to sign for it. Didn’t stop there he didn’t even put our address he put redheads on it to really throw Larry off. In the letter I believe he asked if Larry wanted to go to the toilets funeral with him. I can remember the phone call too, Larry cussing at dad and dad was just laughing so hard. Larry will be greatly missed but his memories will live on forever. Condolences from the killian and frankhouser family’s

My favorite memory was when I got married the second time and I called him and Bonnie and told them and he said to Bonnie you want to go to Florida don't you and she said yes and they flew down and when they arrived at my place I offered them lunch and he looks at me and say not so nicely no thank you. I took a better look at him and he was a shade of green , because that was the first time he had ever flown on a plane. He went straight to my bedroom and laid down on my bed and went to sleep. When he woke up he was hungry. Bonnie and I laughed so hard we were crying. That's a day I'll always remember. Because when he got up I ask him why he looked so bad when he arrived and he told me someone told him to make sure he eats a good breakfast before he gets on the plane, and so he did, that really made me laugh. Brother I will surely miss you rest in peace.
