“ I was a student of Dr. Germain's in 2001 at Millersville University. It was a delightful semester. We lived in the same neighborhood (Grandview Heights) so I also had the pleasure of driving him to school. Those conversations were some of the best in my life. I will treasure our memories. I knew he had passed away years ago, but I am writing today since I was sharing our memories with coworkers. He has not been forgotten.

“ I was also a student of Sumner's at Franklin and Marshall and his influence has stayed with me since the 60's. He was a fine professor whose example was one of those that turned me to teaching as well. I took every course of his I could and even found myself marching with him outside the Russian Embassy in Washington protesting the treatment of the Jewish community in the Soviet Union. It was a new experience for a Protestant from New England! I am grateful for his life and inspiration. He and Bradley Dewey during those years made a great professorial team. I miss them both very much.

“ I took Professor Germain's "American Novel" class in the fall of '67 as a senior at F&M. What a great class that influenced me then and influences me today. Professor Germain really made the books come alive and the depth with which we looked at the writings of the great American writers had a profound impact on me.

My deepest sympathy to the entire Germain family.

“ My deepest sympathy to Mrs. Sumner Germain and their daughters. I was shocked and deeply saddened to read of Sumner's death just now. I had been riding on the #16 bus to Millersville past the Groff Funeral establishment at exactly the time that Sumner's service was in progress. Little did I know until now. Sumner was a very valuable colleague; I was sorry to see him retire from Millersville University. He added such dignity and quality to the place.

“ My greatest teacher. My daughter was born when I had a class on Emily Dickinson and I named her "Emily." I will never forget his smile. Another graduate class with Sumner was over at 10 pm but often half the class would stay until around 11 to continue to discuss and we enjoyed every minute. I retired from Penn Manor High School 3 years ago but I always mention Sumner as the person who influenced me the most. My admiration for scholarship begins with Sumner Germain.

There was a tear falling in an Amherst graveyard Saturday night.

And out of story-
Gathered to that strange Fame-
That lonesome Glory
That hath no omen here- but Awe-
