“ Sending love and prayers out to the entire family. It's hard to put into words right now, but I will say this: From the first time that I met Tara at McCaskey Highschool, I knew how special and amazing she was and is. I wish we had videos back then that could just capture a glimpse of how she always managed to light up a room with that brilliant smile and her gentle, kind, often goofy and hilarious spirit was evident even back then at the age of 17, she had the teachers in awe. It was fantastic. She has touched the lives of so many people and I am thankful that I got to witness even a glimpse of it. I remember us just walking down the street to the store and every where we went, someone would be stopping her to chat -- man, she could have been the mayor, if not the president! But I believe that she is a shining example of living life to the fullest and even at a young age - no matter what - she always put family and god first. An amazing daughter, wife, mother, grandmother and friend. Thank you for that last chat. I meant every word of it to you and I will carry your voice with me, Tara. You are in heaven now, probably singing and dancing and telling your grandma about your adventures here on earth. Your family - your husband, your mom, and your children were with you every step of the way, and in the end, that is all that matters. Until we meet again sweet girl.

“ Tara and I had many conversations about life as she was growing up. She was caring and loving in all that she did. We would always talk about family and how important it was to her. I know that family fulfilled her. What a beautiful legacy she has left us all. We should love and appreciate our family and show them we love and stand with them. Tara will be missed but her legacy lives on. I thank God for allowing me the time I did have with her. RIP my sweet girl💕

“ Tara and I grew up together, sang together at the Ebenezer Baptist Church in the youth and Young Adult Choirs and also in the J.P. McCaskey Gospel choir which we started as some of the original members. I now live in the house where she grew up in. Yes her voice was beautiful, her laugh was hearty and contagious and her heart was full of love. I will cherish those days in my heart. Praying for you Ashli and your family. Sleep in peace my friend ❤️. Mary Morant- Calloway

I had the pleasure of knowing and growing up with Tara. We sung together on the Young Adult Choir at Ebenezer Baptist Church. From there, we hung out and became best friends. Tara was funny, creative, gifted and giving. While our life paths took us in different directions, I will always cherish and love her dearly. Keeping Terrence, Ashli (my God daughter) and the entire family in my prayers. I know Tara is singing beautifully in the heavenly choir. Peace, Shelby M. Weeks
