

Victoria J. Fulmer

May 22, 2013

Victoria J. Fulmer, 66, of Lancaster, PA, died Wednesday morning May 22, 2013 at Conestoga View, Lancaster. Born in Suffern, NY, she was the daughter of the late Charles E. and Ruth Elizabeth Gannon Lounsbery.

Victoria loved to garden, crochet and watch TV.

She is survived by her ex-husband, Charles E. Fulmer, 5 children: Melissa Wise, Beverly Kuhns, Victoria Price, Jr., Joey and Donald Price; sister Mary Lounsbery; and 13 grandchildren.

The family invites friends to gather in her memory at Lancaster County Park on Saturday, June 1, 2013, at 4 p.m. Please contact Bev regarding a dish to bring (optional).

Tribute Wall

“ Victoria J. Fulmer

October 22, 2023 at 11:34 PM

“ I know Anna personally and have for years. David has given many classes through the Atlanta Writer's Club and independently. The team of Five Stones Press is a great one and I think their business plan is excellent. I am a self-published author, did the Outskirts Press route. I am now moving it to my own imprint because I am starting a small publishing company. But that is next year's project. My guru for self-publishing info is Michael Marcus. I think he is the subject of your latest post! Glad I have found this site. I will have to check in on it often.

Lorena - December 21, 2015 at 11:28 PM

“ We are sorry for your lost, Vicky will be dearly missed. We will always hold on to the memories we have and cherish them.

Irvin & June Gannon - May 24, 2013 at 06:55 AM